Dear Parents,

What a way to end the week, absorbed in a world of books! It was wonderful to share the children's favourite stories and see them work together for the quiz. Even our doors have been transformed!

Special Awards this week:

Hedgehog Class

Ellie-Mai for making such super progress in her reading as well as being a kind and helpful friend.

Badger Class

Esra for concentrating and enthusiastically taking part in music lessons.

Fox Class

Freddie M for working very hard this week and for being extremely kind to others

Writer of the week

Kelcie for her imaginative descriptive writing

Book of the week

Thank you to Clay for his fantastic book of animal facts! We were impressed with the information about arctic hares.

Harriett was picked out for next week, we are looking forward to her choice.

The poster features three circular inset photos: a child painting a plate, two children holding a small object, and two children playing basketball. There are also two decorated Easter eggs and small white flowers scattered on the green grass at the bottom.

After celebrating books all day, I am off home to enjoy my book. I hope you all get a chance to curl up with a good book at some point over the weekend, or maybe go and spend your book day vouchers!

Happy reading!
